OLD NEWSPAPER MAN RETIRES

George R. Westland, of the Innisfail Province, one of the oldest, most popular and best newspaper men of Alberta, after a business career of twenty years, has disposed of his paper to H. C. Dillingham, an experienced printer and newspaper man.

For several years Mr. Westland has been struggling against failing health, and at last has had to succumb to the inevitable.

He has always taken a keen interest in the Alberta Press Association, and was always on deck when a gathering of the clubs took place, and he will be sadly missed by "the boys of the old brigade" on their annual outing.

The News regrets Mr. Westland's departure from the ranks of the newspapermen of the province, and hopes he may recover his old time good health after a good rest, and again open up in business in Alberta.

THE PRESIDENT'S WARNING

Ex-President Poincare

The day will come, when, thanks to Allied weakness and complacency, Germany will once more rebuild her army and when the Allies will be obliged to take seriously the threats they are ignoring today. The lesson of German bad faith, which it is necessary for the Allies to seek to retain the Inter-Allied Commissions of Control, which granted German good faith, should have disappeared as soon as the military, aeronautical, and naval clauses of the Treaty of Versailles had been executed. This is what is going to happen. As soon as our backs are turned the Einwohrer and the Sicherheitspolizei, the connection of which with the Reichswahrer has been shown by the Inter-Allied Commissions, will be reconstituted. Hidden arms will be brought from their hiding places and the Treaty will be openly violated. Since Germany has, since June, 1919, given so many proofs of bad faith, although we have always been so indulgent towards her, can we not at least tell her that the Commissions of Control will continue to carry out their duties until we are certain that German disarmament has been sincerely and fully carried out? Will justice forever sleep the sleep of the just?

The Western wheat crop is estimated at Winnipeg as follows: Crop, 255,000,000 bu.; shipped, 120,000,000 bu.; for seed and feed, 35,000,000 bu.; country mills, 35,000,000 bu.; remaining to market, 35,000,000 bu., of which only 20,000,000 bu. can go for export.

The people of Canada will join in extending good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. J. Neishan, the parents of Canada's Premier, who celebrated their golden wedding recently. This aged couple may well feel proud of their "boy" who has attained to the highest place in the gift of the nation.

Mexican Government, yet it is being asked to bring pressure to bear on President Obregon, who is being asked to have official American recognition, to ban at least the groggers' forms of immorality, even if he does not go to the length of stopping the sale of liquor. That General Obregon would be stoutly resisted by Governor Cuernavaca, who makes such a handsome thing out of the concessions, may be taken for granted. Another point of attack is found in the passport issued by the American government to citizens desiring to cross the Mexican border. The Government is asked not to issue passports unless the applicant can show a good reason for going to the Juana and a faithful friend when he returns. In Mexico itself there is no public opinion against any of the forms of dissipation that shock Americans, and since there is important revenue to be derived from them it seems probable that they will continue to flourish.

YOUR GROCER IS NOT A PROFITEER

Have a heart. Your grocer is not a profiteer! He is passing along to you reduced prices, as fast or faster than they come to him. Just because prices on many goods are still high don't blame him. It is usually the poorest quality of everything that shows the greatest decline. If he is as good a man as the average, your grocer is still doing his utmost to give you the best value for your money. But don't push him too hard. He is only human. You don't know, but we do, that he is recommending goods that pay him less profit than other well known brands which he might easily persuade his customers to take if he cared to do so. We know this because he pays more for Red Rose tea and sells it at less profit than other teas, so when he recommends you to buy Red Rose tea, you will know it is because he believes it the best and is willing to take a little less profit for the sake of giving you the best value he can. We are publishing this because we believe the more our people know the more facts concerning the profits made by those they deal with, the more generous they will be in their judgments. T. B. THE WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. G. D. Armstrong
And Jesus when He came out, saw much people and was moved with compassion, because they were as sheep not having a shepherd; And he began to teach them many things.

Our text gives us a glimpse into the inner life of Jesus. For a moment we see Him, with the throng pressing against Him, and He is looking for leisure even to eat. Then suddenly He withdraws from the crowd, seeking the inner circle of His life, and we are made aware of the loneliness of His life. How often we have shared His loneliness. How often we have felt the presence of the crowd? There is a pleasure in the pathless woods—a harmony to be found only in solitude, "by the deep sea with music in its roar."

Long ago I was a weary of voices. Whose music my heart could not win; Long ago I was a weary of noises. That fretted my soul with their din; Long ago I was a weary of places. Where I met but the human and sin; Where I met but the human and sin; Where I met but the human and sin. How often have we felt it. We had an insatiable possession in few real friends—the world might take its course. What do we care? What should we? The crowd that followed Jesus however did so with hearts throbbing with a strange unrest. Many and varied were their emotions and their motives: life curiosity, political ambition, soul hunger, spiritual aspiration, moved at the influence of His personality and they would not leave Him alone. They followed Him and He did not turn from them in disdain, in anger or in indifference. Rather His soul responded to their need. He had compassion upon them. The influence of people upon us is an index to our character. Do we think of them as sheep, to be felled, or as lambs to be cared for and shepherded? Are we what we get out of them? Or do we give them what we put into them? We are erecting barriers against our fellow men, barriers that will keep them out of our lives. We are dividing them from us and leave us and them independent, or are we projecting ourselves into their lives? Do we interest in them? Have we a sense of kinship with the Master, as He looks out upon the groping throng and thinks of them as souls to be nurtured and protected? The soul of the Master is stirred by the presence of the crowd. He whose custom it was to go alone, turned to a few, and prayed in solitude with the Father and to find in human loneliness a sense of divine companionship, is most responsive to human need and eagerly waits to give to the sons of men the wealth of His enlightened nature. And so "He taught them many things. Out of the riches of His life, He gathered the truth that had sustained men's lives in time of need, the wisdom that had guided them in many a period of crisis, temptation and strain. Knowing men as they were, He ministered unto their needs. He taught them clearly and seeing it whole. He guided the people of His day in the clear white light of reason, and in the pathway of duty—on the long road that leads upward to the "plains of peace."

The great mission of the followers of Jesus today is to walk truly in His way. The ways of life are overclouded and the future hidden in mists of uncertainty. The gift of warning cries of selfishness is given even to the timid sense of fear. With a great sense of helplessness, pious souls are awaiting a miraculous intervention, which cannot come. The age calls for a ministry of teaching by men who have seen the light. The age calls for a spirit of inquiry and of reverent faith—minds that are eager to learn and hearts that are ready to obey. And, indeed, if in this time we should be overwhelmed by a panic of fear or by a despair in a night of doubt, well for us if we shall understand the gospel of the Master, "I am the way, the truth and the life."

REFORMERS ARE BUSY
Naturally the conditions at Tia Juana have not escaped the attention of American reformers. The United States can hardly interfere openly in matters that are the concern of the

PITY ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Los Angeles Times

A member of the British colony in a certain foreign town quarrelled with a native and a duel with revolver was arranged. The Englishman was a good shot and the native, knowing this, made it a condition that the duel should take place in a room in total darkness.

The time arrived. "I don't want to hurt the blighter," thought the Englishman, "but I'll give him the right of his life." He groped his way round the room to the fireplace and fired all the chambers of his revolver up the chimney.

The native was killed.

MUSICAL CLUB CONCERT

Another very entertaining and instructive programme of music was given Thursday evening under the auspices of the Red Deer Musical Club, when the subject for the occasion was Edward Grieg, the Norwegian composer.

The programme opened with an exceedingly interesting reading on "The Life and Works of Grieg" by Mrs. R. L. Gutz. Then followed the outstanding feature of the concert, Madame Lesaulnier's rendering of several of Grieg's compositions which were divided into two groups. These were "The Lonely Wanderer," "Little Bird," "Berceuse" and "Norwegian Dance" in the first group, and "The Butterfly," "To Spring" and "March of the Dwarfs" in the second group. Madame's interpretation of the various selections was perfect. What more need be said?

Dr. Grieg was also a writer of Norwegian songs, Madame Gutz sang with beautiful expression two of his best known works, "Love Poem" and "Solvang Song," and was most ably accompanied by her daughter Nona. The audience showed its appreciation of this splendid programme by the generous applause which followed each number and brought forth well merited encores.

And so concluded a very enjoyable concert and the Musical Club will be congratulated in its aims to present the best of music before the public.

TEACHERS' SALARIES

Dear Mr. Editor:—

In your issue of January 19th, I noticed a communication signed H. M. and headed "Teachers' Salaries," in which there are a number of misleading assumptions in regard to the teachers' work and salary, and it may be well to correct a few of the errors.

Your correspondent takes care to compare the teachers' salary of this year with that of a year ago and not with that of 1914 or earlier. But what are the figures? The salary of 1914 was getting from $600 to $800 a year, and while other occupations doubled and tripled, the teachers' salary in the rural population. What increased year with that of a year ago and not with that of 1914 or earlier. But what are the figures? The salary of 1914 was getting from $600 to $800 a year, and while other occupations doubled and tripled, the teachers' salary in the rural population. FOOD EXPERT NOW PRAISES TANLAG

Thought His Days of Usefulness Were Over, But Tanlag Overcame His Troubles.

"Tanlag has done me a wonderful amount of good, and I am delighted to give it my endorsement," said A. F. Spaw, a resident of the Hotel Angulus, Vancouver, B.C., world-renowned expert in dehydrated food products.

Mr. Spaw has visited every country of importance on the map and three times circled the globe. He is probably the world's best authority on the dehydrating of foods, having given many years' close study to that subject. In addition to his Vancouver residence Mr. Spaw regards Seattle, Washington, as his home.

"Gastric colic is possibly the most excruciating trouble from which a man ever suffers," continued Mr. Spaw, "and I contracted it four years ago in South Africa. At first the attacks were not frequent, and only mildly severe. However, they grew in intensity and frequency, and one day ago caused me so much suffering I quit my business in Africa and started home."

"The day before I was to leave the steamer I picked up an American newspaper and read an account of some one's experience with Tanlag. On landing I began taking it and before the first bottle was gone I noticed relief. I continued taking the medicine right along until I had finished six bottles, but long before that the gastric colic was gone."

"I am now in fine condition, thanks to Tanlag, and although eighty years of age am just as much interested as ever in my life work."

Tanlag is sold in Red Deer by Galt-Cornett Drug & Book Co., and by the leading druggist in every town.

QUEBEC LIQUOR LEGISLATION IS NOW OUTLINED

Commission of Three Will Handle Entire Control of Business on May 1.

Quebec, January 27.—Premier Deschamps outlined the proposed new legislation in regard to the sale of liquor in the province of Quebec at a caucus of government supporters, Wednesday. He announced that a committee of three members will be appointed by an order-in-council to handle the whole liquor business. The head office will be in Montreal.

Mr. Deschamps said the liquor will be sold in retail government depots, but only one bottle at a time with certain provisions governing the price in the city of Montreal there would be one depot for every 50,000 inhabitants, while in Quebec there will be one for every 40,000.

In the depots, wine will be sold by the bottle, and in hotels having more than 100 bedrooms, by the glass between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. Certain permits may be obtained for occasional hours in the case of banquets. Brewers are authorized to sell beer to parties licensed by the commission, but must pay a tax of $1,000 for every brewing establishment, as well as five per cent of the gross sales of each month. Special provisions are made for liquors in regard to mining districts.

The measure will be enforced on the 1st of May next, and present authorized vendors are ordered to give a full report of the liquor they have in stock by the 13th of April.

Ernest E. Decary, chairman of the administrative committee of Montreal, is to be appointed chairman of the new commission in the event of the metropolitan commission being dissolved.

D. Murphy, K.C., at present government liquor controller and G. G. Galt, former secretary to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, are respectively mentioned as chief attorney and secretary of the commission.

SPIRITUAL FORCES

The Archbishop of Canterbury Never in history have the statements of a country had to look out upon so seething and whirling and bewildering a storm of human needs and rivalries. Irish life and government, English industry, English expenditure, English unemployment; Indian and South African unrest; the preparation for face of famine and disease; inter-racial rivalries great and small, and the bearing of the League of Nations on these; a constant road way for fighting social vice; educational lethargy and backwardness. If these things, as part of the work which God is giving us to do as a people, are to be handled rightly by our leaders, it will be with the help and backing of us all, of us, that is, who steadily believe that all these are sacred as well as secular duties, and that the sole source of any victory over and among these strifes is a spiritual source, and any weapon that will serve must have a spiritual temper.

SPRINGVALE BEEF RING

The annual business meeting of the Springvale Beef Ring was held in the schoolhouse on Saturday, January 22. Mr. W. J. Code, who has served the Ring acceptably for the past two years as chairman, declined to accept that office for the coming year. Mr. Lee O'Connor was unanimously elected to that position.

The secretary's books were left in the hands of Mr. A. C. Metcalf, with the understanding that if it became necessary for him to surrender the office before the end of the year, they would ask Mr. L. M. Gusts to take them. It was decided to continue the Ring next year, and to start the first week in June.

The matters of fixing up the slaughterhouse and corral, securing a butcher, weight of animals, time of delivery of animals and time of culling for meat, collecting delinquent accounts among others, and the price of beef for 1921 was set at 16 cents for the first spread (six shares), 12 cents for the second (seven shares), and 10 cents for the last seven shares. All who desire a full or half share should notify the secretary at once.

IRISH COBBLER HIGHEST YIELDER POTATO TESTS

Interesting Statement on 1920 Experiments Made on Eight Farms by G. H. Sanford.

The resolution recommending that the Dept. of Field Husbandry, University of Alberta, continue the experimental work in potato culture conducted on eight farms throughout the Edmonton district last year, was endorsed by a unanimous vote of the members of the Edmonton District Potato Growers' Association, Saturday afternoon. Secretary W. F. Broadstock stated that the results from the experimental work conducted so far had been of great value to the growers, and that it would be to the benefit of every grower in the district to have the work continued.

G. H. Sanford, the experimentalist who had conducted the experiments in potato culture last year, in outlining some of the work accomplished so far, said that maps and charts had been prepared and the results would be explained in detail at the potato conference which would be held at the University, February 8-11.

The experiments were conducted on eight different farms and this made the results of much more value than if they had been conducted on one farm. In the variety tests the average of the results on the eight farms was found to be of great value in determining the best variety for the conditions was quite equal to conducting the same experiment on one farm for eight years.

The results of these tests indicated that the Irish Cobbler was the highest yielder of any variety tested and this information, the speaker said, if no other experimental results had been obtained, would justify the work that had been conducted last year.

High yields, Mr. Sanford remarked, were not always an indication of the best variety. The market demand in the majority of cases would be the determining factor. The Irish Cobbler in the cooking had scored second highest for all varieties tested and was considered a potato of fairly good quality in the markets.

MUST CONSERVE THE OIL

FEARED THAT PRESENT SUPPLY WILL GIVE OUT

Basel F. N. McCrorie, member of the Institute of Petroleum Technology of London, England, says: "The present supply may take place within the time of the next generation. The riches that are hidden in the bowels of the earth are so enormous that we have been most prodigal in expending them without thought for the future, and the time has come when the world must be more careful."

Old Mother Nature is constantly at work creating new oil fields and new oil wells, but the process is so extremely slow that probably all of the oil that is now being used on the earth will have passed away before the supply now being manufactured by nature will be available.

The use of petroleum is older than the records of the world's history. Herodotus describes the oil fields near Babylon, while the ancient records of China and Japan are said to contain many allusions to the use of natural gas for lighting and heating.

The earliest mention of petroleum in this country occurs in Sir Walter Raleigh's account (1595) of the pitch lake at Trinidad. The active growth of the petroleum industry in North America began a century ago, but the average production was only about two thousand barrels a year.

For about ten years the state of Pennsylvania was the one oil producer, but in the last fifty years the industry has spread all over the globe. There are oil fields of importance in Russia, Galicia, Rumania, Sumatra, Java and Borneo.

The greatest unexploited oil fields at the present time, I believe, in Persia. There is an area of two hundred and forty square miles, the geological formation of which denotes oil possibilities, and only five or ten square miles of which have been exploited.

But even with all this wealth in sight, if future generations want their automobiles, and if transportation is to be done by trucks, we now at this time must learn to be more conservative.

While employed in a stone yard, I can pay my very badly," writes Mr. Oakley. "A doctor sewed up the wound and attended me for five weeks. All the while I was at work. At the end of it I was advised to go to hospital."

"After I paid over $10 to the doctor I determined to try Zam-Buk. Within two weeks Zam-Buk had so healed the wound that I was able to return to work. Further treatment made the limb quite sound. Thus one dollar spent in Zam-Buk did what a forty-dollar treatment had failed to do! I shall never be without Zam-Buk again."

This herbal Zam-Buk is powerfully antiseptic. It's the best known and most reliable remedy for eczema, cold-sores, ulcers, piles, abscesses, poisoned wounds, scalp disease, chilblains, cuts, burns, scalds and all injuries. 50c. box, all druggists.
